

This week: Obama and Biden campaign for Clinton, Congress is on recess

Outlook, week of October 11, 2016:

Tuesday,
Oct 11

- The American Enterprise Institute for Public Policy Research holds a book discussion on “Building a Learning Culture in America”
- Resources for the Future holds a discussion on the “Business of Environmental Intelligence”

Wednesday,
Oct 12

- The Heritage Foundation holds a discussion on "The All-Out Assault on the First Amendment: Restricting Speech, Religion, and Association"
- The National Press Club holds a luncheon address with Navy Secretary Ray Mabus on "the state of America's sea services"

Thursday,
Oct 13

- Farm Credit Administration (FCA) holds a meeting on the profit outlook for the 2016 corn, soybean and wheat crops
- The Brookings Institution's Initiative on Business and Public Policy holds a discussion on "How to make fintech (financial technology) work for all Americans"

Friday,
Oct 14

- Small Business Administration (SBA) holds a meeting of the Council on Underserved Communities Advisory Board
- The Center for Strategic and International Studies (CSIS) holds a discussion on "Libya and Security Challenges for the 2017 European Union (EU) Presidency"

The White House:

- President Obama will campaign for Hillary Clinton in Greensboro, North Carolina on Monday and Cleveland, Ohio on Friday
- Vice President Biden will campaign for Hillary Clinton in Las Vegas on Thursday

 This schedule was updated on Tuesday October 11, 2016. It is not exhaustive and is subject to change.*

Sources: The White House, “What’s Happening,” October 11, 2016; National Journal Daybook, 2016.