

Sarah Huckabee Sanders to replace Sean Spicer as White House press secretary

Biography

Education: BA, Ouachita Baptist University
Current Position: White House press secretary

Accomplishments

- Named to Time's "40 Under 40" list in 2010

Professional Background

- Sanders ran the 2016 presidential campaign of former Arkansas Governor Mike Huckabee, her father
- Sanders was the national campaign manager for the ONE Campaign, an anti-poverty organization founded by U2 singer Bono
- She cofounded Second Street Strategies, a political consulting firm in Little Rock, AR
- She served as national political director during Huckabee's 2008 presidential campaign
- In 2002, she was the field director for Huckabee's gubernatorial reelection bid
- After graduating college, Sanders worked for the Department of Education under the Bush administration

Contact

LinkedIn: www.linkedin.com/in/sarah-huckabee-baa6263/
Twitter: @SarahHuckabee

“

I volunteered to join Mr. Trump's campaign because he is a champion of working families, not Washington-Wall Street elites. Like the other Republican candidates, Mr. Trump is pro-life, pro-marriage, and will appoint conservatives to the courts. What makes Mr. Trump my choice for president is he will break the grip of the donor class on our government and make it accountable to working families again.”

- Sanders, on accepting a position in Trump's White House

Sources: Kaitlyn Schallhorn, "Who is Sarah Huckabee Sanders? How her family prepped her for the White House briefing room," Fox News, May 12, 2017; National Journal research. Photo from Twitter.