Quick Summary

Longtime Ohio Republican with deep roots in criminal justice and pro-life politics who has patiently risen through the political ranks

- Powerful, resilient fixture in Ohio politics for nearly 40 years
- Raised in small town outside of Dayton; cites his parents' conservatism and prosecutorial background as inspiration Catholic faith influences his ideology and prioritization of issues
- Advocates for traditional social and fiscally conservative policy principles but has reputation as a pragmatic deal-maker
- Prioritizes policies to protect children, often empowering law enforcement
- In Congress, took bipartisan deal-making approach; as AG, policy priorities were notably more ideologically conservative, but made indications of being more bipartisan as governor

Approach and Motivations

A quiet, deliberate deal-maker, guided by his catholic faith and family business experience

- Results oriented approach led to fruitful working relationships with Senate Democrats on adoption, protecting the Great Lakes, and establishing the poison control hotline
- Drew ire from conservatives for being one of the “Gang of 14” that – at the time – negotiated a compromise to avoid eliminating the filibuster for judicial appointments
- Believes his faith compels him to help other people, chose to do so through public service
- Experience handling child abuse and drug cases as Greene County prosecutor demonstrated to him that children were the most in need of help
- Believes businesses have a bigger role than government in building a stronger economy
- Background growing up working for his parents business forms foundation for empowering private sector

Policy Position and Areas of Focus

Early career as prosecutor served as catalyst for public service career and still influences his policy decisions in the present day

Child Welfare Reform: Public service rooted in helping children, often by empowering law enforcement

- Deeply impacted by his time prosecuting crimes against children; says helping children is “an obligation...and...a common thread” for him

- Favors policies giving law enforcement more tools to protect children, specifically against child predators
- Passed bipartisan legislation to speed up the adoption process for abused children
- Has conducted public-private partnerships with Alvis and Big Brothers Big Sisters, using Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) funds to bolster the programs and deliver targeted services

Conservative Judicial Activism: Joined numerous amicus briefs as AG

- Joined amicus briefs defending the Trump Administration travel ban and repeal DACA
- Sued to block the ACA from being implemented
- Filed amicus brief in support of a Texas law increasing medical licensing regulations for abortion facilities and admitting privileges

Workforce Development: Believes in significant collaboration with business community in order to meet needs of Ohio’s economy

- Strong advocate for public-private partnerships
- Cites lack of skilled workers as number one issue for small businesses
- Favors investments in career-tech centers and two-year community colleges to fill skills gaps
- As governor, launched initiative to reimburse employers who pay to retrain employees with in-demand industry credentials

Reproductive Rights: Long held pro-life beliefs have been given increased focused in his statewide offices

- As AG, initiated investigation into whether Planned Parenthood sold aborted fetus parts
- Partnered with Sen. Rick Santorum to lead fight against partial-birth abortions in Senate Signed controversial heartbeat bill in 2019

collaborating with private enterprise to provide equipment and economic recovery

Actions: Made decisive preventative measures proactively, and is now making major efforts to support Ohio residents and businesses

- Implemented gradual closures early on, starting in early March
- In early April, unified the following organizations in a public-private partnership to increase the supply of personal protective equipment: Ohio Manufacturers' Association, Ohio Hospital Association, Ohio Manufacturing Extension Partnership, Manufacturing Advocacy and Growth Network, nursing home organizations, JobsOhio, Ohio Department of Administrative Services, Ohio Development Services Agency, and the Ohio Department of Health
- Partnered with the USDA to allow people to use SNAP benefits for online shopping
- Extended significant assistance through TANF and Medicaid, allowing more funding for the programs targeting those in poverty
- Signed a foreclosure prevention order
- Ordered statewide reporting of ventilators for collection and redistribution
- On March 28, asked for FDA to offer flexibility for using Battelle Institute technology for PPE sterilization, which was granted the next day
- Announced a coordinated plan to reopen the economy slowly beginning on May 1st, using information on testing and the presence of the disease to time stages of reopening
- Joined the coalition of Midwestern states to manage the reopening
- Commuted several sentences to avoid rapid spread within the prison system

Criticisms and Controversies

Criticized for relationship with FirstEnergy

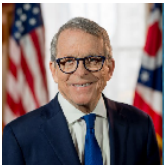

Nuclear Subsidy Bill

- Scrutinized for signing HB 6, which created a customer-paid $1.1 billion subsidy for two nuclear plants in northern Ohio
- FirstEnergy, the owner of the plants, donated nearly $48,000 to his gubernatorial campaign and transition fund

COVID-19 Response

Was proactive in a pro-public health approach, setting early social distancing restrictions; now

Messaging: Acknowledged the virus early and took gradual measures to implement social distancing ahead of many states; has focused on reopening safely, heavily emphasizing the importance of masks and tests

- Statements are made on almost a daily basis addressing public safety and health resources
- Began gradually cancelling and barring public events in early March, eventually closing restaurants and bars before the shelter in place order; has worked with large sports franchises on safely restarting college and professional sports into the fall
- Has issued several requests to the federal government to provide personal protective equipment, which has been partially successful
- Calls for mass testing and federal assistance, and has successfully advocated for FDA approval for in-state solutions to test and PPE shortages
- Has maintained a tone of cooperation with the federal government
- Consistently tweets about the importance of wearing masks

Reception: DeWine's efforts have been widely regarded as positive and proactive

- Seen as one of the most pro-active and effective governors at dealing with the crisis
- Though initially at odds with state businesses for closures, early preventative measures and amenable reopening pacing has renewed support
- Has dealt with mild protesting over the lockdown, but alignment state GOP leaders has allowed him to largely dodge the partisan protests that took place in nearby Michigan, Kentucky, and Wisconsin
